

Our Community of Support

- Attracts and retains the kind of executives and other employees who will make your business prosper
- Provides access to excellent hospital care; a concern for almost everyone, without regard to their health status
- Presents an image of your company as one that has opted for a community which cares about healthcare
- Improves the health of your employees, increasing productivity and in some cases saving their lives
- Creates employment for a substantial number of people, most of whom spend their salaries locally for goods and services that may be produced, distributed, or sold by your business. Tri-City Medical Center has over 2,100 employees generating more than $200 million in purchasing power back into our communities. The Medical Center also buys more than $110 million in goods and services every year.
- Attracts superior physicians, nurses, and technicians who can choose to practice anywhere, and will opt for a hospital where they know there is a strong commitment to excellence, growth, and optimal outcomes through a community of support

Our Community Partnership

Join our community of caring. We'll be there when you need us.

One of your company's employees has a heart attack, or a stroke, or is involved in a serious automobile accident. He or she is most likely a local resident, and will be taken to the emergency room at Tri-City Medical Center.

At that moment, you would pay anything to have Tri-City Medical Center be the best possible facility with the best physicians, best nurses, and best resources. But the time to help create such a facility is now, not then.

You are invited to join the Tri-City Hospital Foundation Corporate Council. Not later, when it's too late. Now, when your presence on the Corporate Council can have an impact on what happens in the future. Your return on this investment will be calculated in lives saved and health restored.

The Tri-City Hospital Foundation Corporate Council is a group of corporate citizens who understand the crucial importance—to businesses and the community—of having an exceptional hospital serving the North County region. In case of emergency, or severe illness, or natural disaster, the quality of care that's available nearby can literally be a matter of life or death.

Your Role

As an executive of a major corporation, you play a special role in the community. Your opinions influence the opinions of others. Your decisions affect the lives of others. You are in a unique position to help build your community, enhancing the quality of life for you, your employees, and everyone around you. Joining the Tri-City Hospital Foundation Corporate Council is an important act of leadership, reflecting care and concern for others.

The hospital benefits from a continuous stream of information and input provided by Corporate Council members about the healthcare needs of their businesses and their employees. Council members, in turn, benefit from their ability to influence the hospital's course as well as their early access to a blueprint for the future of healthcare in their region.

Today, patients arrive by land or air at Tri-City Medical Center's recently renovated Emergency Department.

Your Commitment

Corporate Council meetings are held once a quarter, prior to the start of the workday. The meetings are a unique opportunity to meet like-minded executives from other major companies in the area, and to engage with the hospital executives who are making decisions about Tri-City Medical Center's future direction.

Make A Difference

Building a good community requires many things. Good governance. Good planning. Good businesses willing to do good as well as doing business.

There are many good business reasons to support Tri-City Medical Center. Some of these have a direct impact on your business. Good communities attract good people who make it easier to obtain and retain excellent employees.

Others are simply a matter of being an engaged, caring member of the community where you and your business exist.
