Tri-City Medical Center's Pulmonary Rehabilitation Center Receives National Certification

Oceanside, CA – Tri-City Medical Center's Pulmonary Rehabilitation Center has achieved certification from The American Association of Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Rehabilitation (AACPR), a national certification agency. Achieving certification indicates that the program has met stringent guidelines regarding the coordination of care, documentation, and implementation of best-practice policies and procedures.

"Tri-City is one of only three pulmonary rehab programs in the County, and achieving certification assures our patients that delivering high-quality care is our number one priority," said Kevin McQueen, Director of Respiratory Care.

"We took an already great program and fine-tuned it," says Valerie Naegele, Pulmonary Rehab Coordinator since 1992.

The Tri-City Cardiac Rehabilitation Program, led by Terri Hueners, RN, is also certified by AACPR.
